

Dear Member of the Media,

welcome to LEXISTEMS' Media kit. We hope it will help you learn more about who we are, what we do and the importance of meaning for intelligent interactions between man, systems and data.

In this folder you will find:

- our co-founders' business cards
- a complete collection of graphic assets in Web and Print formats, including
 - logos,
 - photos of our co-founders,
 - screen captures of our apps and solutions
- a selection of PowerPoint presentations about us and our technologies.

The content of this media kit is structured by resources then languages so you won't waste time browsing it. Should you need anything more, should you want to discuss any of the topics we address or book an interview, please contact Elsa. She'll be more than happy to assist you in getting what you need.

We all thank you for your interest in our company.

The LEXISTEMS Communication team

About LEXISTEMS

LEXISTEMS delivers solutions for intelligent interactions between man, machines and data.

These solutions are based on MEANING, through voice or text. They enable everyone to search, connect and analyze information, or to pilot systems, with much more power and precision than with simple keywords.

To that end, LEXISTEMS' solutions integrate easily into existing applications – Internet/Intranet, mobile or embedded – and devices: TV / set-top boxes, automotive, connected speakers, industrial robots...

By combining state-of-the-art Artificial Intelligence, Natural Language Processing and digital security, they bring LEXISTEMS' customers and their users immediately measurable benefits in terms of ease of use, empowerment and performance.
